What Closing Day Means

Closing is the final step where the purchase is completed and ownership can officially transfer.

- 1

Sign final documents
Complete the paperwork needed to finalize your loan and transfer ownership.
- 2

Confirm funds
Your lender and closing team confirm funds, payoffs, and transfers.
- 3

Finalize ownership
Once documents are recorded, the home can officially be yours.
- 4

Receive next steps
Your closing team explains what to keep, set up, and expect next.

Big idea: Closing day is not just paperwork. It is the final handoff from planning to homeownership.

Before Closing Day

A few simple steps can help closing feel smooth and predictable.

- Review your Closing Disclosure
Look over the final numbers and ask questions early.
- Confirm cash to close
Verify the amount due and approved delivery method.
- Bring government-issued ID
You will need valid photo identification to sign documents.
- Confirm time and location
Know where to go, when to arrive, and who to contact.
- Complete final walkthrough
Make sure the home is in the agreed-upon condition.

Helpful reminder: keep your loan team informed before making large purchases, opening credit, or moving money around.

What You May Sign

Your closing agent will walk you through the documents. You do not need to memorize them before closing.

- 1 Loan documents
Note, mortgage or deed of trust, and related lender paperwork.

- 2 Title documents
Ownership transfer, title insurance, and settlement paperwork.

- 3 Closing disclosures
Final loan terms, costs, and acknowledgments.

- 4 Deed-related documents
Documents that legally transfer ownership.

- 5 Settlement paperwork
Itemized closing funds, credits, and charges.

Tip: It is normal for closing to involve a lot of signatures. Slow down, ask questions, and keep copies.

Protect Yourself Before Funding

Wire fraud is real. Pause and verify before sending money.

- Verify wiring instructions directly by phone
Call the title company using a known, trusted number.
- Use a known phone number
Do not rely on a phone number from a last-minute email.
- Never trust sudden wiring changes
Unexpected changes should be treated as a warning sign.
- Double-check every detail
Confirm recipient, account number, routing number, and amount.
- Ask questions before sending funds
If something feels off, stop and verify first.

 If something feels off, stop and verify. A real closing team will understand why you are being careful.
